Association Management Education

About the MSAE Preparation Course

Since 1998, MSAE's prep course has demonstrated success with an average pass rate of more than 90%, touting participants from over 45 states and over five countries. This program has helped more association executives become CAEs than any other entity through gaited computer- and phone-assisted online live learning; writing the original CAE Study Guide; generating reading outlines by domain; mock exams; and CAE Terminology and Key Concepts Flashcards. Prep course participants can call in from anywhere. Conference calls are also recorded for those who are unable to participate at the scheduled time.

Requirements

Candidates are required to have been employed full time for one year as a chief staff executive OR five years as an executive association manager. Candidates must also have completed 100 hours of broad-based, association management-related continuing education or professional development within the last five years. This education must be directly related to nonprofit management. It should not be industry-specific or required for candidate's particular position within their organization. Consultants are now eligible.

Benefits of Becoming a CAE

- Value and recognition, particularly among board leaders, members and those involved in hiring nonprofit professionals.
- Creates connections through a range of CAE-only events and increased volunteer leadership opportunities through Michigan Society of Association Executives (MSAE), other state organizations and the American Society of Association Executives (ASAE).
- Self-confidence 70% of CAE, test takers report enhancing knowledge, improving advancement opportunities and evaluating their status as their motivation.

Dedicated Faculty

Sue Radwan, CAE is the managing editor of ASAE Professional Practices in Association Management, Third Edition. Radwan has considerable experience working with associations in the areas of board leadership and development, enhancing communications, strategic planning and human resource management. She will provide you with valuable guidance on certification information and tips for taking multiple-choice tests.

"I especially appreciated that you customized the session for us. Processing the content through a variety of lenses really helped me to put all of the pieces together."

Rhea Steele, CAE, Information Systems and Technology Manager, Council of Chief State School Officers

"I've gotten more out of your class than the others I've taken. I think the sharp focus, accountability and empathy have all added up to an excellent learning experience."

Peter Lucas, MBA, CAE, Education and Training Director, National Mobility Equipment Dealers Association

"I don't know how anyone passes the exam without the in-depth analysis of the process the MSAE course provides."

Michael Johnston, CAE, Vice President of Government Affairs, Michigan Manufacturers Association
